QuinTango's musicians are top-notch classical instrumentalists whose distinctive "chamber tango" style blends intimacy and bravado with passion and precision. Equally at home on concert stages or in classrooms, QuinTango re-imagines tango classics, shares deeply personal originals, and treats their audiences to tango-inflected versions of familiar ballads. From the White House to Buenos Aires, from festivals in Europe to classrooms in Appalachia, QuinTango's music and personal narratives make lasting connections with every performance.

QuinTango connects with local communities wherever they perform. They collaborate with schools, libraries, half-way houses, community centers, hospitals, and art galleries. QuinTango has partnered with Mayan villages in Guatemala and Mexico, string orchestras in Costa Rica and France, as well as professional symphony musicians and high school students in Campeche, Mexico.

These adventurous chamber musicians bridge cultures and dismantle stereotypes with their music, stories, and multi-generational, multi-cultural presence. Powered by passion, they are connecting the world one tango at a time.

COMMENTS FROM PRESS, PRESENTERS, AND AUDIENCE:

"Tonight you conquered Buenos Aires!"

-Ambassador Lino Gutiérrez, U.S. Ambassador to Argentina

"QuinTango gave the best concert we ever had here."

- Ambassador Luis Carlos Villegas, Colombian Ambassador to the USA.

"For haunting melody, rhythm that makes every part of your anatomy move, and a feeling of warmth and enthusiasm, QuinTango is downright wonderful."

-Robert Jones, Spoleto Critic, The Post and Courier

"One of Washington's finest instrumental ensembles..."

-Eric Brace, The Washington POST
